

Even the warm summer breeze gets cold in May
Even the snow on the trees melts away
Even the flowers fade
If no one is watering

Even the honest have to lie sometimes
Even the strong ones have to cry
Even a baby has to die if no one's there to care for it

Nothing ever lasts forever
But we were meant to stay together
In your eyes a blue sky holds the stars that never fade

Even freedom has chains
Even the pure ones have their stains
Even a priest get's laid
When no one is watching

Even a genius gets it wrong sometimes
Even a seeing man goes blind
Even the music gives in to silence
When no one is listening

Nothing ever lasts forever
But we were meant to stay together
In your eyes a blue sky holds the stars that never fade

I know that time will tell
And I know a wishing well has a bottom

Nothing ever lasts forever
But we were meant to stay together
In your eyes a blue sky holds the stars that never fade
