

Hold You Like Heaven

©2005 Tim Moyer

You want to talk, but you can find the words
You want to hold me, but you can't find the verve

Can't see the reason for your lack of concern
But I hold the answer to put out the burn

Hold you like heaven
Take in your heart
Hold you like heaven
Take you apart
Learn who you are

I see the outside a glimpse of within
Sometimes I guess right and you shed a grin

There are those moments that only we know
Without ever speaking we give up control

Hold you like heaven
Take in your heart
Hold you like heaven
Take you apart and learn who you are

We give in to habits of self preservation it's takin' its toll
We talk through the air with devices that keep us alone
And its time to bring it home

Hold you like heaven
Take in your heart
Hold you like heaven
Take you apart... Learn who you are Learn who you are
